The pick of the 'high-end', Anemos is a stylish stone hotel conceived by a Greek travel photographer with a passion for the Gökçeada landscape. The rooms are very comfortable, if a tad modest for the price, but really it's the views, service, food and swimming pool that make it so memorable. The huge, light-filled lounge area is like a scene from a coffee table book.

Our independent authors have visited Anemos Otel and selected this as one of our recommended hotels in Gökçeada.
